U.S. - WORLD TRADE OVERVIEW

- o The United States registered a record $123.3 billion merchandise trade deficit (imports c.i.f.; exports f.a.s.) in 1984, nearly double the $69.3 billion 1983 deficit.
  - Virtually all of the growth in the merchandise trade deficit in 1984 can be attributed to manufactures, which accounted for 92 percent of the trade deficit growth.
  - The deterioration in U.S. manufactures trade performance occurred for most types of products, even for the traditionally strong area of high technology goods. The bulk of the deterioration, however, occurred in non-high tech manufactures.
  - Imports of petroleum and products remain the largest single deficit commodity group in U.S. trade--over $50 billion in 1984.
  - The United States is now running trade deficits with most of its major trading partners, with most bilateral trade balances deteriorating in 1984. Particularly large deficit increases occurred in trade with Japan ($15.2 billion), the European Community ($11.8 billion), and the East Asian Newly Industrialized Countries ($8.6 billion).
- o Total U.S. exports reversed their decline over the previous year and climbed to $218 billion, 8.7 percent over 1983 levels. But, 1984 performance was still almost 7 percent below the 1981 peak level of $234 billion.
  - Exports of machinery and transport equipment--mainly motor vehicles and parts--accounted for almost half the growth in exports from 1983 to 1984.
  - Exports of aircraft, refined petroleum products, and animal feeds posted large decreases.
- o Total imports surged in 1984, growing 26.4 percent to $341.2 billion, with manufactures accounting for most of the rise.
  - Major increases included basic industry inputs such as iron and steel, aluminum, and organic chemicals as well as capital goods and a wide range of consumer goods.
  - After decreasing for two years, the value of U.S. petroleum and products imports rose 6.9 percent to $57.7 billion.
- o Three-fifths of total U.S. merchandise trade in 1984 was with the developed countries. Developing countries accounted for approximately 37 percent of total merchandise trade and the Centrally Planned Economies (CPEs) less than 3 percent.

U.S. TRADE WITH SELECTED DEVELOPED COUNTRIES

U.S. Trade with Canada

- o Canada is our largest trading partner, accounting for 22 percent of U.S. exports and 20 percent of U.S. imports in 1984. Two-way U.S.-Canada trade in 1984 was $113.2 billion, with U.S. exports of $46.3 billion, and imports of $66.9 billion.
- Trade with Canada yielded the second largest U.S. bilateral deficit--$20.6 billion, up from $14.7 billion in 1983.
- The growth of manufactures dominated both exports and imports in 1984, with most of this growth in automotive products under the APTA--Automotive Products Trade Act (APTA) free-trade arrangements. Trade in APTA products accounted for the major share of the bilateral trade deficit growth.
- o The largest increases in major export items were in automobiles and parts (23 percent), trucks and special purpose vehicles (80 percent), ADP equipment--including parts for office machines--(47 percent), and coal (17 percent).
- o U.S. imports from Canada surged 27 percent in 1984, in large measure reflecting greater purchases of motor vehicles and parts, internal combustion engines, aircraft, gold, and aluminum. In particular, crude petroleum imports increased by $821 million (30.3 percent).

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO JAPAN
1984

TOTAL: $23.2 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM JAPAN
1984

TOTAL: $60.4 BILLION

U.S. Trade with Japan

- o The U.S. bilateral trade imbalance with Japan is larger than with any other U.S. trading partner, rising from $22 billion in 1983 to $37.2 billion in 1984.
- U.S. imports from Japan gained nearly 40 percent while U.S. sales to Japan increased only 7.3 percent.
- Trade in high-tech goods is a significant contributor to growth in the U.S. deficit with Japan.
- o U.S. exports of corn, cotton, office machine/ADP parts, radioactive materials, and electronic components were particularly strong. Significant declines, however, occurred in exports of aircraft, coal, natural gas, and aluminum.
- o The sharp increase in U.S. imports was spread among all major commodity groups, although the value of machinery and transport equipment purchases gained the most.
- Machinery and transport equipment accounted for three-fourths of all U.S. imports from Japan in 1984.
- U.S. imports of passenger automobiles--the single largest import item--rose 15 percent to $13.7 billion even though quantity growth was restricted by the voluntary export quotas. Total motor vehicles and parts imports increased $3 billion from 1983 levels.
- Substantial increases were also posted for phonographs, TV image and sound recording equipment, telecommunications equipment, electronic components, office machines and ADP equipment, steel plates, and metal-working machine tools.

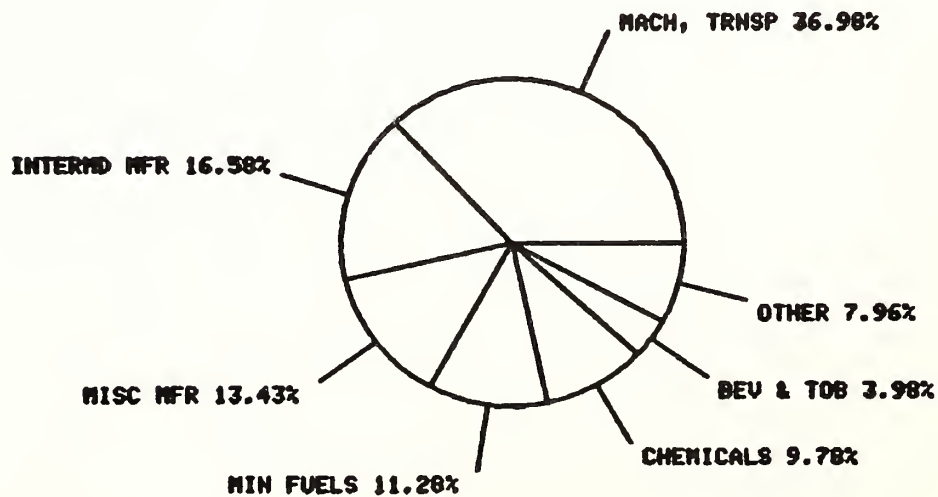

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY

TOTAL: $46.2 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY
1984

TOTAL: $60.3 BILLION

U.S. Trade with the European Community (EC)

- o The U.S.-EC trade balance worsened considerably in 1984, from a $2 billion deficit in 1983 to $14 billion in 1984.
- o The low 6 percent growth in U.S. exports in 1984 to the EC reflects the region's slow post-recession economic recovery.
  - All of the growth in U.S. exports was in manufactures--mainly ADP equipment and office machines, electronic components, non-monetary gold, cotton, and synthetic resins, rubber and plastics.
  - Export growth was dampened by substantial declines in exports of foodstuffs to the EC. To some extent, this reflected lower commodity prices in dollar terms. Significant losers were exports of oilseeds, animal feedstuffs, and corn.
- o U.S. imports from the EC soared 31 percent last year. Major increases included steel pipes and tubes (231 percent), aircraft and spacecraft (59 percent), specialized industrial machinery (53 percent), petroleum products (46 percent), measuring and controlling instruments (45 percent), and passenger automobiles and motor vehicle parts (33 percent).
- o With the exception of Denmark, Greece, and the Netherlands, U.S. sales expanded to the individual EC countries. In particular, U.S. exports rose a healthy 15 percent to the United Kingdom--the largest market for U.S. products in the EC.
- o U.S. imports increased across-the-board from all EC countries. The largest increases posted were from Ireland (50 percent), Italy (46 percent), the Netherlands (37 percent), and Germany and France (35 percent each).

U.S. TRADE WITH THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY
(BILLIONS OF DOLLARS)

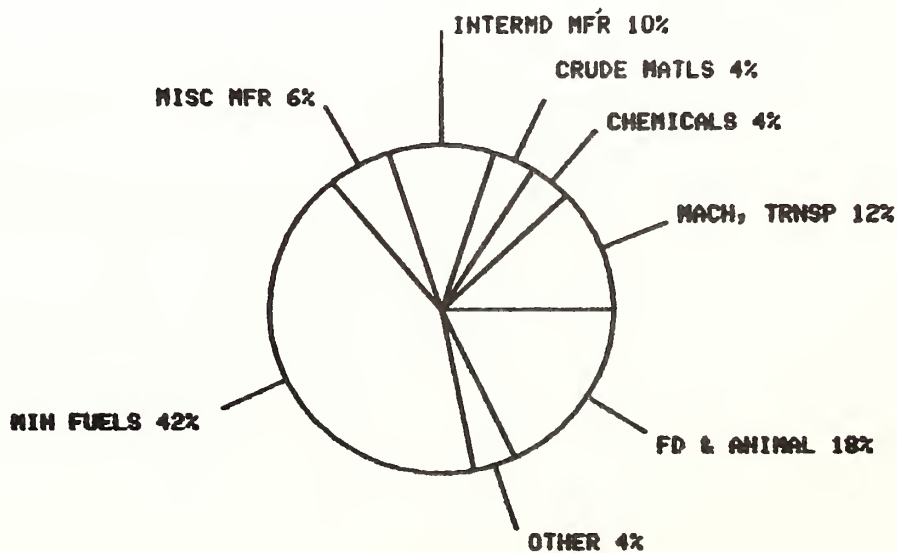

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO WESTERN HEMISPHERE LDCS
1984

TOTAL: $29.3 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM WESTERN HEMISPHERE LDCS
1984

U.S. TRADE WITH WESTERN HEMISPHERE DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

- o The developing countries of the Western Hemisphere (Mexico, Caribbean Basin, and South America) are heavily dependent on the U.S. market for the single largest share of both their exports and imports. The area contributed only a small share to the worsening in the 1984 deficit, a bilateral deficit growth of $2.5 billion.
  - The $4.8 billion growth in the deficit with the South American countries was offset to a large extent by reduced deficits with Mexico ($1.6 billion) and the Caribbean Basin ($600 million).
- o Reversing the downward trend of the last few years, U.S. exports to Western Hemisphere LDCs expanded 15.6 percent. They, nevertheless, are still far below their 1981 level. This low level continues to reflect the severe contraction of imports by Mexico and other region countries under major debt-repayment constraints.
  - Export growth to these LDCs was largely in manufactured goods; agricultural exports were relatively unchanged.
  - Mexico alone accounted for almost three-fourths of the 1984 increase in U.S. exports to these countries and almost 90 percent in the growth of manufactures exports.
- o U.S. imports from these countries grew 14.9 percent in 1984, with purchases from the South America countries accounting for much of the increase.
  - The import increases largely reflected greater entries of manufactured goods, although imports of agricultural goods and petroleum products also rose.

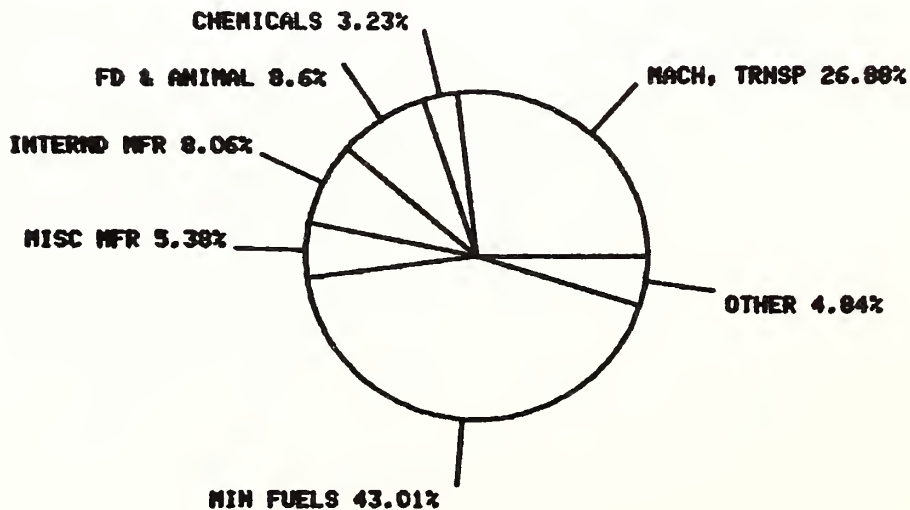

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO MEXICO
1984

TOTAL: $12.0 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM MEXICO
1984

TOTAL: $18.3 BILLION

U.S. Trade with Mexico

- o Following sharp declines in 1982 and 1983, U.S. exports to Mexico increased sharply by 32 percent in 1984. Since imports rose only 7 percent, the U.S. trade deficit with Mexico narrowed from $7.9 billion in 1983 to $6.3 billion in 1984.
- o Manufactured goods led the export expansion to Mexico. Substantial increases were recorded in shipments of motor vehicle parts, electronic components, telecommunications equipment, and electrical equipment, some of which were for assembly into finished products in Mexico for later shipment back to the United States.
- o Agricultural exports to Mexico declined in 1984 in response to strong Mexican crop production. Corn shipments--usually the largest farm export--fell sharply, while oilseed exports, mainly soybeans, almost doubled to become the largest U.S. farm export to Mexico.
- o The growth in U.S. imports from Mexico in 1984 was dominated by increased purchases of machinery and other manufactured goods.
- o Imports of mineral fuels and lubricants--the largest import category--declined by 8 percent in 1984. Petroleum product imports, however, jumped by two-thirds to become the second largest import item behind crude petroleum.

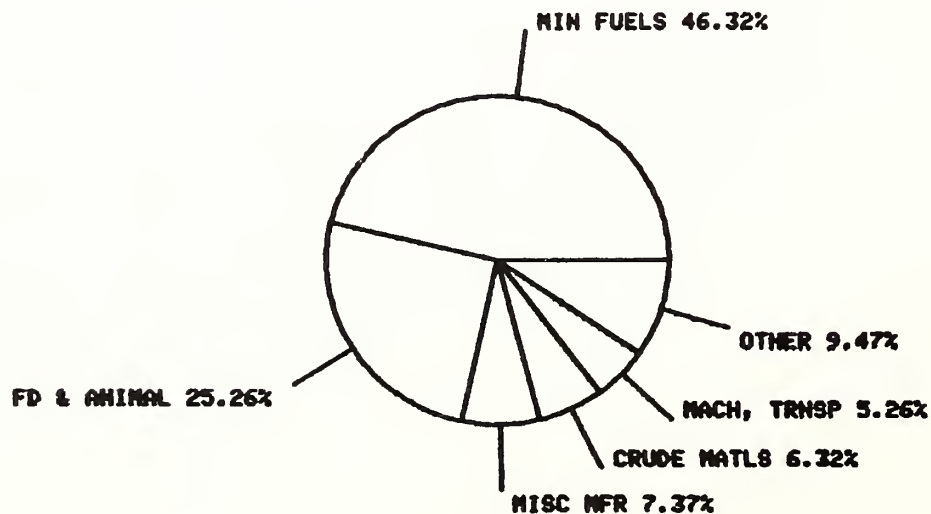

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO THE CARIBBEAN BASIN
1984

TOTAL: $6.5 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM THE CARIBBEAN BASIN
1984

TOTAL: $9.5 BILLION

U.S. Trade with the Caribbean Basin

- o The U.S. trade deficit with the Caribbean Basin area declined in 1984 to $3.0 billion from $3.6 billion in 1983. The decline resulted from a 7.7 percent growth in U.S. exports to the region and a slight decline in U.S. imports.
- o Major U.S. exports to the region continue to be refined petroleum products, wheat, paper and paperboard, synthetic resins, organic chemicals, and electronic components.
  - Panama, Trinidad & Tobago, the Netherlands Antilles, and the Dominican Republic are the largest Caribbean Basin purchasers of U.S. goods.
- o Much of the decrease in U.S. imports from the Caribbean Basin region stemmed from a 20 percent drop in U.S. imports of crude petroleum and petroleum products--mainly from the Netherlands Antilles and the Bahamas. Petroleum product imports from the Bahamas--the largest U.S. import category--declined by almost one-third in 1984.
  - The sharp decline in U.S. imports of petroleum and products was somewhat offset by higher U.S. purchases of coffee, sugar, ores and concentrates, electronic components, and inorganic chemicals.
  - The decline in total U.S. imports from the region was probably held in check by the 1983 Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) which was established to provide trade and economic assistance to the 27 CBI countries.

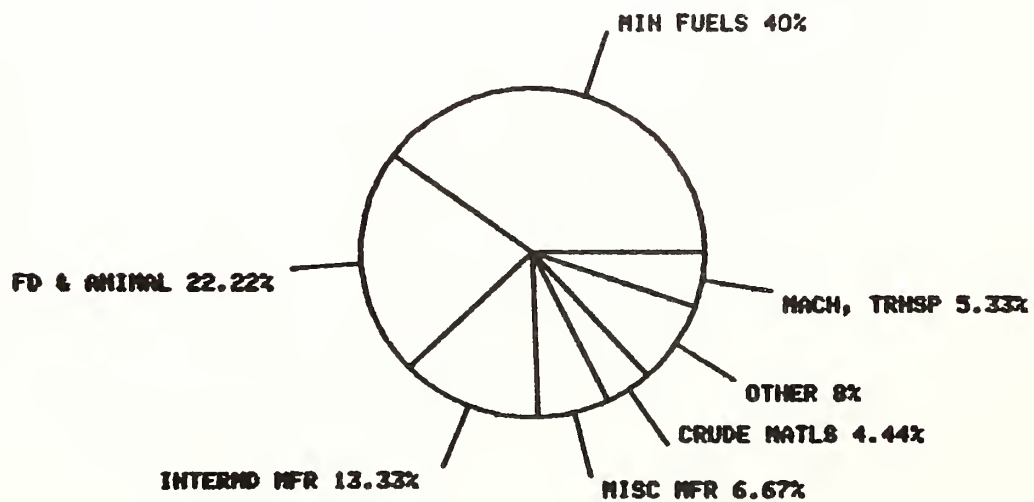

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO SOUTH AMERICA
1984

TOTAL: $11.0 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM SOUTH AMERICA
1984

U.S. Trade with South America

- o The U.S. trade balance with South America continued its sharp deterioration in 1984, increasing to $11.5 billion from $6.7 billion in 1983. Much of the deterioration was due to a doubling in the U.S. trade deficit with Brazil.
- U.S. trade with South America is dominated by U.S.-Brazilian trade, which accounts for one-third of total U.S. trade with the region.
- o U.S. exports to South America, which fell sharply in 1982 and 1983 because of debt-servicing problems, recovered slightly in 1984. They were still some one-fourth below the 1982 level.
- Exports of coal and chemicals (both organic and inorganic) expanded significantly. Shipments of most manufactured goods, however, declined.
- U.S. exports to Venezuela accounted for much of the growth in U.S. exports to the region, growing by almost one-fourth.
- o U.S. imports from South America expanded sharply in 1984, rising 31 percent from 1983 levels.
- U.S. imports increased 54 percent, largely on the strength of soaring purchases of Brazilian footwear, fruits and nuts, petroleum products, organic chemicals, and tobacco.

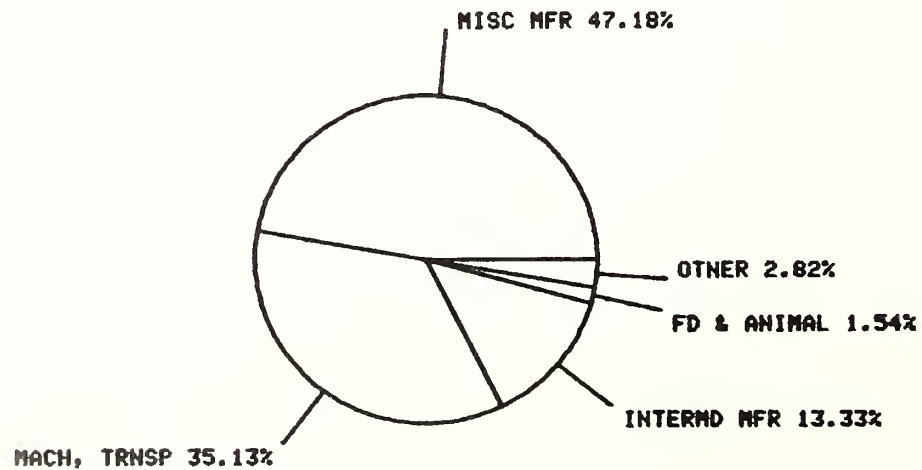

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO THE EAST ASIAN NICs
1984

TOTAL: $17.4 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM THE EAST ASIAN NICs
1984

TOTAL: $39.1 BILLION

U.S. TRADE WITH SELECTED DEVELOPING COUNTRIES OF ASIA AND AFRICA

U.S. Trade with the East Asia NICs

- o The 1984 U.S. trade deficit with the East Asian NICs--Hong Kong, Singapore, South Korea, and Taiwan--hit $21.8 billion, nearly double the 1983 amount. U.S. exports rose by only 6.1 percent, while imports jumped by 32.4 percent.
- High-tech goods contributed proportionately more to the U.S. bilateral deficit with these countries than non-high tech imports.
- o Major U.S. exports to the NICs are electronic components, aircraft, ADP equipment and office machines, corn, cotton, oilseeds, and refined petroleum products. Most major U.S. exports gained, with the exception of corn and petroleum products which dropped significantly.
- o Virtually all of the U.S. import growth from the East Asian NICs in 1984 was in manufactures, a rise of $9.3 billion (33 percent). These large increases occurred in both high-tech and non-high tech goods.
- Particularly large increases occurred in ADP machines (177 percent), electronic components (44 percent), parts of office and ADP machines (40 percent), toys and apparel (33 percent).
- o The East Asian NICs have become major suppliers of many U.S. imports, outstripping Japan in a number of items including textiles, metal manufactures, TVs and radios, electrical machinery and parts, clothing, footwear, watches, and toys and games.

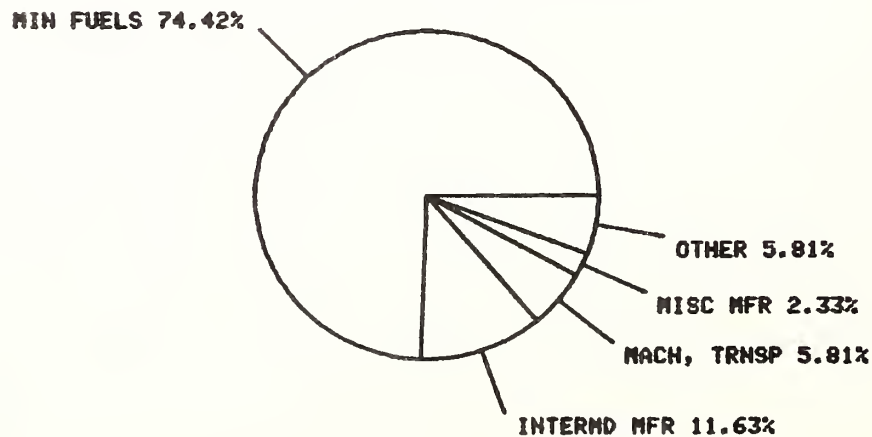

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO THE MIDDLE EAST
1984

TOTAL: $10.2 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM THE MIDDLE EAST
1984

TOTAL: $8.6 BILLION

U.S. Trade with the Middle East

- o The U.S. trade surplus with the countries of the Middle East deteriorated sharply, falling from $4.3 billion in 1983 to $1.7 billion in 1984.
- o Much of the deterioration in the U.S. trade balance can be attributed to the continuing decline in U.S. exports to the region. U.S. exports to the Middle East declined 14 percent in 1984 to a level lower than that reached in 1980.
  - Manufactured goods led the export decline. Shipments of machinery and transport equipment were the largest export losers, falling 17 percent in 1984. The only bright spots were substantial increases in U.S. sales of rice, corn, and aircraft.
  - Much of the decline in U.S. exports to the Middle East was due to a nearly one-fourth decline in exports to Saudi Arabia. U.S. exports to Israel showed the greatest growth in the region, rising by 12 percent.
- o U.S. imports from the Middle East reversed the sharp decline of the last several years, increasing 14 percent in 1984.
  - Over two-thirds of U.S. imports from the Middle East consist of petroleum and products. U.S. imports of crude petroleum continued to decline in 1984, but imports of petroleum products more than doubled.
  - U.S. imports from Israel soared by almost 40 percent on the strength of greater purchases of manufactured goods. U.S. imports from Saudi Arabia reversed their decline and grew modestly last year.

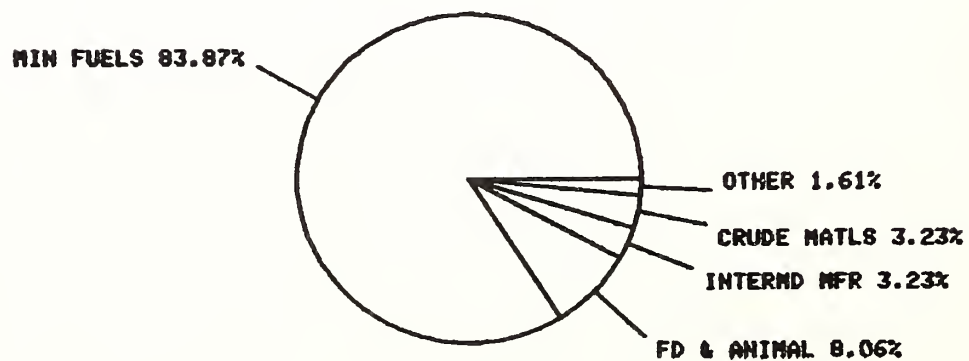

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO AFRICA
1984

TOTAL: $5.7 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM AFRICA
1984

U.S. Trade with the Developing Countries of Africa

- o The U.S. trade balance with these countries improved modestly in 1984, although merchandise trade remained in substantial deficit. The U.S. trade deficit improved to $6.7 billion in 1984 from $7.6 billion in 1983.
- Algeria replaced Nigeria in 1984 as the largest trader with the United States in the region. The U.S. trade balance with Algeria continued to worsen, hitting $3.4 billion in 1984.
- o After declining for several years, U.S. exports to developing Africa increased slightly in 1984.
- Much of the increase in U.S. sales to the region resulted from larger aircraft sales. Exports of wheat, corn, and oils and fats also expanded.
- U.S. exports to Egypt increased 6 percent but shipments to Algeria and Nigeria fell sharply.
- o The decline in U.S. imports from the developing countries of Africa stabilized in 1984, falling marginally compared to the substantial declines in 1982 and 1983.
- The declines centered on purchases of crude petroleum from Nigeria and natural gas from Algeria. Petroleum products from these two countries, however, substantially increased.
- U.S. imports from Egypt plummeted in 1984, dropping 44 percent from the already low 1983 level. The drop resulted from sharply lower petroleum purchases.

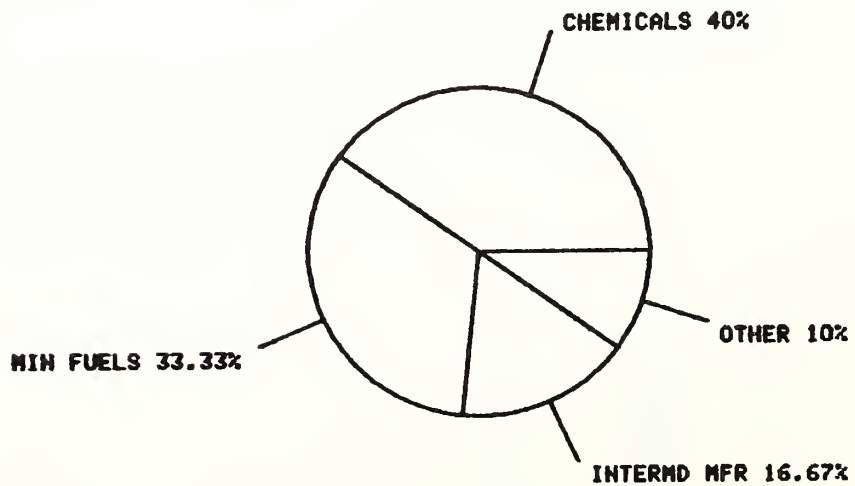

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO THE U.S.S.R

TOTAL: $3.3 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM THE U.S.S.R
1984

TOTAL: $0.6 BILLION

U.S. TRADE WITH CENTRALLY PLANNED ECONOMIES

U.S. Trade with the USSR

- o The U.S. trade surplus with the USSR grew $1.1 billion to $2.7 billion in 1984.
- o U.S. exports to the USSR soared 64 percent to $3.3 billion in 1984, following a sharp decline the previous year.
  - Virtually all of the export growth occurred in wheat and corn in response to continued poor Soviet crop production.
  - The USSR accounted for 7 percent of U.S. agricultural exports in 1984.
  - A new U.S.-USSR grain agreement, which took effect October 1, 1984, specifies higher purchasing ceilings than the previous agreement.
- o U.S. imports from the USSR in 1984 rose to $0.6 billion, their highest level since 1979.
  - Fuel oil and chemicals accounted for most of the import growth.
  - Imports of platinum and other precious metals also expanded.

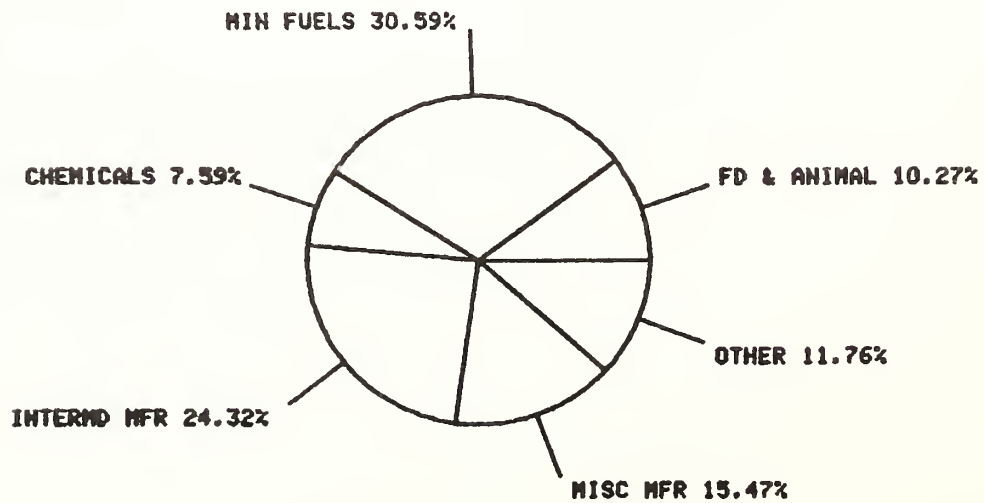

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO EASTERN EUROPE
1984

TOTAL: $0.9 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM EASTERN EUROPE
1984

TOTAL: $1.8 BILLION

U.S. Trade with Eastern Europe

- o The U.S. trade deficit with Eastern Europe expanded from $0.2 billion in 1983 to $0.8 billion in 1984.
- o U.S. exports to Eastern Europe grew 2 percent in 1984 to $0.9 billion but remained far below levels in previous years.
  - Greater shipments of crude materials--soybeans, hides and skins, and phosphates--accounted for virtually all of the export gain.
  - The increases were offset somewhat by sharp declines in exports of agricultural products, largely corn and animal feeds.
- o U.S. imports from Eastern Europe rose 59 percent to $1.8 billion, a record level.
  - Sharp jumps in arrivals of fuel oil and steel from Romania accounted for most of the import growth.
  - More than half of U.S. imports from Eastern Europe originate in Romania.

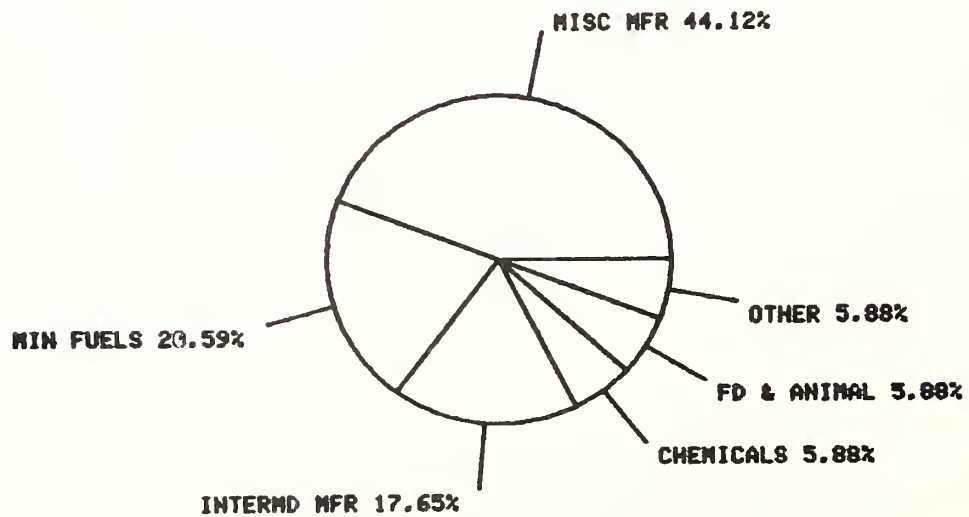

COMPOSITION OF U.S. EXPORTS TO CHINA
1984

TOTAL: $3.0 BILLION

COMPOSITION OF U.S. IMPORTS FROM CHINA
1984

TOTAL: $3.4

U.S. Trade with China (PRC)

- o The U.S. trade deficit with China increased slightly to $0.4 billion in 1984.
- o U.S. exports to China grew 38 percent to $3.0 billion in 1984, but remained below the levels in 1980 or 1981.
  - Large increases in wheat, chemicals, and railway locomotives shipments helped boost exports.
  - A sharp decline in aircraft deliveries to China offset some of the other export gains.
- o U.S. imports from China grew 36 percent, to a record $3.4 billion in 1984.
  - Textile imports, both clothing and fabrics, rose sharply.
  - Imports of crude petroleum also recorded a substantial increase, while petroleum products rose moderately.

NOTE: Export data include special category or military type goods for world, country, and regional aggregations. Because of rounding, country and regional aggregations in this table may differ slightly from values in other published sources. Adjustments to the export and import values for Spain, Portugal, and USSR (and the associated regional aggregations) have been made for 1982-1983 to agree with the 1984 Census definitions of these countries.

1/ Parentheses indicate negative entries.

2/ Excluding Cuba, Laos, and Cambodia or Kampuchea.

3/ Excluding Cuba.

4/ Excluding Laos and Cambodia or Kampuchea.

5/ Including Cuba, Laos, and Cambodia or Kampuchea.

METHODOLOGY

Statistical Note: This package reports U.S. exports (domestic merchandise and foreign merchandise or re-exports) and U.S. imports (general imports, CIF valuation basis). Export data for the world include special category or military type goods; however, all country and regional data exclude special category shipments. The data have been sorted by 1- and 3-digit Schedule E (export) and Schedule A (import) commodity codes according to their value during the January-December 1984 period. Data are not seasonally adjusted. Data for 1980 exclude trade between the U.S. Virgin Islands and foreign countries.

For a description of the U.S. export and import classification schemes and data availability, consult: Guide to Foreign Trade Statistics, 1983, U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census. This reference volume, and microfiche copies of current U.S. foreign trade data, are available at the U.S. Commercial Service District Offices in the United States and Foreign Commercial Service Offices in U.S. embassies overseas.

Definitional Note: The Developed Countries of the world include Canada, Japan, all the countries of Western Europe, Australia, New Zealand, and the Republic of South Africa.

The West European countries are Austria, Belgium/Luxembourg, Cyprus, Denmark, Finland, France, West Germany, Gibraltar, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal (including Azores and the Madeira Islands), Spain (including Spanish Africa and the Canary Islands), Sweden, Switzerland, United Kingdom, and Yugoslavia.

The Developing Countries of the world include all countries except the Developed Countries and the Centrally Planned Economies. In this report (and in contrast to the Census definition), Cuba, Laos, and Cambodia or Kampuchea are considered to be Centrally Planned Economies and not Developing Countries.

The Caribbean Basin (CBI) countries consist of Anguilla, Antigua and Barbuda, Bahamas, Barbados, Belize, Cayman Islands, Costa Rica, Dominica, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Grenada, Guatemala, Guyana, Haiti, Honduras, Jamaica, Montserrat, Netherlands Antilles, Nicaragua, Panama, St. Christopher-Nevis, St. Lucia, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, Suriname, Trinidad and Tobago, Turks and Caicos Islands, and Virgin Islands (British).

The countries of South America are Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Ecuador, Falkland Islands, French Guiana, Guyana, Paraguay, Peru, Suriname, Uruguay, and Venezuela.

The East Asia NICs include Hong Kong, Singapore, South Korea, and Taiwan. The other developing countries of Asia are: Afganistan, Bangladesh, Brunei, Burma, India, Indonesia, Macao, Malaysia, Nepal, Pakistan, Philippines, Sri Lanka, and Thailand.

The Centrally Planned Economies include USSR, Eastern Europe, China, Laos, Cambodia or Kampuchea, Vietnam, Mongolia, North Korea, and Cuba. Eastern Europe includes Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, and Romania; Yugoslavia is considered part of Western Europe.

NOTE: Export data for the world include special category or military type goods; however, all country and regional data exclude special category shipments. Because of rounding, country and regional aggregations in this table may differ slightly from values in other published sources. Adjustments to the export and import values for Spain, Portugal, and USSR (and the associated regional aggregations) have been made for 1982-1983 to agree with the 1984 Census definitions of these countries.

* For countries/regions marked with an asterisk, see following pages for detailed product composition and top 35 U.S. export/import data.

1/ Parentheses indicate negative entries.

2/ Excluding Cuba, Laos, and Cambodia or Kampuchea.

3/ Excluding Cuba.

4/ Excluding Laos and Cambodia or Kampuchea.

5/ Including Cuba, Laos, and Cambodia or Kampuchea.
